50 Webpage Layouts for Showcasing Company Teams and Employees

By Jake Rocheleau

Sep 13 2016

Web Design Inspiration

Building a personal connection with your audience is one small step towards a mutual trusting relationship. If you provide services through your company or design studio, a nice treat for visitors is finding a team page on your website. They get to know a bit about who runs the company and who else is working on projects.

Likeable Media

Carrie Kerpen | CEO

Carrie is the co-founder and CEO of Likeable Media, which she grew from a husband-and-wife consulting firm into an award-winning, global social media and word-of-mouth marketing agency. She led her team to generate over $15 million in revenue, landing the agency on the INC 500 List in 2011 and 2012. Prior to the agency's inception, Carrie had over ten years sales and marketing experience, and worked both on the client side and in media. On the brand side, Carrie and team took Polaroid's I-Zone Camera and grew it to be the number one selling camera in North America. In media, Carrie was the number one salesperson in the country for the Walt Disney Company's Radio Division. Carrie currently lives in New York with her husband, Dave Kerpen, New York Times Bestselling Author, and her daughters Kate and Charlotte.

Founder

Matt Sears was born and raised in Dayton, Ohio. He spent most of his childhood drawing and painting. He ventured into the digital world by earning a degree in computer science and business. He founded Littlelines with his brother, Josh, in 2007. A proud Ruby on Rails engineer, these days Matt strives to combine the high-tech with the aesthetically pleasing. When he is not running Littlelines like a pro he enjoys bike rides with his lady and sharing Instagram shots of his dogs Simon and Griffin.

Creative Director / PaperTelevision

Josh Sears grew up in Dayton, Ohio, and credits the art of graphic novels as much as posters by Alphonse Mucha for steering him onto the artistic path. After working as Visual Marketing Manager at Scott Hull Associates, he would go on to found PaperTelevision, where he creates mobile apps and websites. In his spare time, Josh can be found nostalgically perusing flea markets for vintage comic books, along with various and assorted specimens of '80s gadgetry.

Some great ideas. I did something similar on my Web123ProPartner site. We got a bunch of us to dress it in novelty sports gear, get loads of photos of the team, and publish them online. It was a VERY fun day for all involved, and it made for an awesome "about us" page.

Some of these are really nice. However, Amazee has to be the worst company name I've ever heard.
